

AMENDMENTS TO THE SPECIFICATION

Please replace the last paragraph starting on page 51 with the following paragraph:

Unlike the first embodiment, the ordering terminal 2 for ordering a customer's object to be transported ~~may need~~ not necessarily include such an access means as a WWW browser which enables access to a home page through the line 5. The ordering terminal 2 only needs to include a means for transmitting order information including a location of a business connection in charge of an object to be transported and a location of a delivery destination to the order receiving server 3 through the line 5.
